CONGRESSIONAL HAPPENINGS IN WASHINGTON

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
Member of Congress

Beginning Wednesday of this week the House of Representatives will start a series of informal three day recesses, to last through Easter and until the second week in April. The Senate is scheduled to continue its labors, and take only a short recess over Easter weekend, due to the fact that August body is about a month behind the House in its legislative schedule. Most House Members will take advantage of the recess period to visit their home districts and consult with constituents on legislative problems and public issues.

Both the Senate and the House will have special committees investigating the whole food shortage problem, with hearings starting shortly. Such questions as available food supplies, production prospects, allotments to and reserves held for the armed forces, Lend-Lease shipments, UNRRA food commitments, and the food supply situation and need in the various Allied and liberated countries, will be carefully gone into, according to committee announcements.

During the next three months, April, May and June—all eighteen year old Selective Service inductees will be assigned to the Army Ground Forces for Infantry replacement training, with the exception of a few Specialists—and eighteen year old Specialists are few. In the meantime hundreds of letters from irate parents continue to flood Congressional mail in protest against the sending of so many of the eighteen year olds into battle with only seventeen weeks, or less, of combat training. Army officials insist it is necessary to use these youngsters because of the shortage of Infantrymen—even though there are already more than 8 million men in the U. S. Army.

While draft inductions will probably remain high for the next two or three months, they are expected to decline rapidly after Germany falls, with the possibility that monthly quotas for replacement purposes during the last half of the year will be filled almost entirely from inductees who become eighteen years of age. No one knows, of course, when the war in Europe will end, but even the most pessimistic predict the struggle cannot possibly last longer than July 1st, while qualified observers are estimating the end of hostilities will come anytime within the next four to eight weeks.

Major General Robert S. Beightler, commanding Ohio's famous 37th Division which led the way in liberating Manila, was a recent dinner host at 37th Division Headquarters, in the Philippines, to a number of his fellow Ohioans who were recently liberated from Japanese prison camps. Incidentally, General Beightler's son, a young officer, was one of the paratroopers making the jump to liberate Americans in the infamous Los Banos Prison Camp deep in Japanese territory—one of the most daring accomplishments of the Luzon Campaign. Residents of the 7th District take a special pride in the three "native son" Generals—Major General Beightler, who was born and reared in Marysville; Lieutenant General Elshberger from Urbana; and Major General Harding of Franklin. All three, through their deeds, have written their names indelibly and high on the nation's Roll of Honor.

The Ways and Means Committee of the House voted last week to begin a thorough and comprehensive study and investigation of the present Social Security program, its rates and coverage, and the various proposals now pending before Congress for its expansion to cover groups and classes of citizens not coming under the present law. Using the experience of the past seven years—during which the Social Security System has been in operation—as a basis, an attempt will be made to fix a permanent tax rate or charge for the maintenance of the System, thus doing away with the annual controversy in Congress as to whether the Social Security tax rate should be increased or remain at the present figure.

The President's nomination of Aubrey Williams to serve as head of the Rural Electrification Administration was rejected by the Senate last week by a vote of 52 to 36 after one of the longest and most stormy debates of recent years. Williams, who was formerly head of the National Youth Administration, has long been known for

Attorney Morris Rice Declines Solicitorship

Village council met in special session Tuesday evening to consider the extension of the sanitary sewer on E. Xenia ave., as requested by several property owners. The sewer committee was given instructions to investigate and secure estimates. Members Frame and Pickering of the Board of Public Affairs met with Council as this board has charge of the sewers after being installed.

Attorney Morris R. Rice, Osborn, solicitor, appeared before council by request to consider the appointment of a village solicitor. Smith, McCallister and Gibney declined the appointment the first of the year and several attorneys have been interviewed but there has been no acceptance as yet. Mr. Rice said he had to decline due to his other law practice and being solicitor for Osborn.

Fire Destroys Shed At Reed Home

The local fire department was called out about three o'clock Wednesday afternoon when fire was discovered in a shed at the rear of the home of Mrs. Lester Reed on Chillicothe st. When discovered the interior was a mass of flames and soon reached the rear of the house but the department was able to save the house. An automobile standing near the shed took fire and the interior was gutted.

No particular reason can be given as to the origin of the fire. The shed was a complete loss.

Times To Clean Up For Fire Protection

The public should take time to give outbuildings and sheds a complete cleaning of rubbish, old papers and trash. In many back yards there has accumulated considerable trash of an inflammable character.

Not so far from one of our churches is an old shed with a great quantity of old paper and trash that could easily ignite from combustion. Should fire break out as sudden as what happened Wednesday afternoon a valuable art window could not be saved, especially if the wind was from the north or north-west.

Now is the time to campaign for a cleanup in the village.

G I STUDENT PLAN FOR COLLEGE

Cedarville College has received approval of the state department of education to participate fully in the G I educational plan, according to a communication received from C. M. Blackwell, Dayton, chief of the vocational rehabilitation and educational division, according to an announcement this week by President Ira D. Vayhinger.

The President points out that, under this plan, at least 90 days service is required for a veteran of the armed forces to participate. The veteran participating in the G I program of education as government expense will be given a year plus the length of the time actually spent in the service.

President Vayhinger says that full plans are going forward to take care of the needs of service men under the provisions of the G I bill. He points out also that the program starts immediately for any of the personnel who have been honorably discharged.

She said, "It has been proved that dictators are the product of a depression." We need a strong Great Britain and hope to see France as ruler of her own."

April 1, Sixty Seven Years Ago

Last week we referred to a birthday for George McFarren as coming on April 1 when he will celebrate his 90th. On April 1, 1878 there was an event on West Xenia ave., the birthplace of a Cedarvillian on what is now the property of C. E. Masters. The original house was a one story and it was raised shortly after Samuel Trunt III purchased what is now the home of Mr. Masters. While we have little or no knowledge of what all went on to make up the life of the village at that time we have heard from our elders. For instance another blessed event had taken place directly across the street the March previous. Today this youngster of yesterday, though not as old as he might appear, spends his days in quietude and with the companionship of his sister. Then came the month of May and a daughter, was born to a couple, their first, on what is now the bank of the small lake that was formed in the abandoned quarry. This estimable lady is now a resident of a suburb of Cleveland. In those days the homes were no doubt modest without the modern day conveniences and no one had dreamed of the present modern maternity ward of our hospitals of today. A well respected colored woman of her day, Mrs. Montague, was the mid-wife that journeyed from the one home to the other on her mission where today a trained nurse is at the side of the physician. Sixty-seven years and yet the road has not seemed so long at that—but much shorter as the years approach.

FORUM DISCUSSES BANG'S DISEASE CONTROL

Proposed legislation which will enable dairymen to control Bang's Disease was discussed by Dr. A. J. DeFosset of Columbus to more than 75 Farm Forum members Monday evening. Changes requested in the present Ohio law include legalizing appropriations of county funds to aid in the disease control campaign, changes in requirements for branding infected cattle, and the making of indemnity payments on cattle which had been vaccinated before they were eight months old.

The proposed program would be carried out on the area plan with all cattle being tested. Diseased animals would be slaughtered and calves in diseased herds vaccinated before they were eight months old. Under the present bill and miss plan more than two and one half million cattle have been tested in Ohio since 1934. Of these 108,000 were diseased and the owners were paid more than four million dollars in indemnity.

COUNTY TAX COLLECTION SETS RECORD

County Treasurer Harold J. Fawcett reports the largest collection of taxes for the period in recent years. Payments on real estate and special assessments for the first half of 1944 amounted to $381,459.72.

The total, included $44,929.90 on the second half 1944 assessments, representing 11.1 percent of the June charge. Many taxpayers paid their taxes for the entire year instead of six months.

The current charge on real estate for the first half of the year was $314,788.16 and 98.6 percent was collected, leaving $4,452.64 unpaid when the collection period expired. Outstanding tax delinquency was cut from $24,252.04 to $13,969.17, probably the lowest in twenty-five years.

The charge for special assessments including the current assessments and delinquency, was $18,599.72 and all but $6,321.64 was paid.

The sale of delinquent property in the county was announced this week by County Auditor James J. Curlett and was rather a short list. There was no real estate advertised for the village or township and only a few items for personal delinquency.

Poultry Prices Get Get Boost Of 1 1/2 c lb.

Poultry prices are to be increased 1 1/2 c a pound according to OPA. It became necessary to offer some inducement to get more people to get back in the poultry game. The increase may cover part of the increased cost of production to those who do a big business but will not hardly compensate a small poultry grower. The cost of feed is still a big item in growing poultry.

While there are many chickens in the country this is the hatching season and few hens will go to market until the setting season is over and moulting starts. Like hog feeders the poultry grower was tricked last year by the New Deal and many reduced their flocks.

The proposed increase of 1 1/2 c per pound on poultry should be a lesson to hog feeders. Fewer hogs on the market and the OPA will be forced to increase the ceiling price just as has been done with poultry. The subsidy paid to packers does not put one cent more in the farmers pocket.

Returned Jap Prisoner Wants To Return To His Mission Field

The Rev. J. A. Patten, repatriated United States missionary who returned on the Grapaholm from North China where he had been interned by the Japs, had an interesting experience to relate before a good crowd at the Church of the Nazarene, Monday evening.

He said during his six years in China he had the experience of conducting a service in a church while the Japanese shells ripped off parts of the roof. He referred to some of the horrible atrocities against Chinese citizens. There were many instances he said where victims were half-mutilated and then buried alive.

As to his own arrest and internment he said they looted his church and carried away what they wanted and distributed the things among the Japanese soldiers. As for himself, he said he was not mistreated in prison and that he had enough to eat. Yet there many less fortunate.

He received no mail while in prison and never knew what moment he was to be taken out and executed. One of the Chinese preachers was given the horrible water torture.

Rev Patten says he has signed up and is ready to return to his mission field just as soon as the war is over.

Eleanor Nash was placed under arrest Monday by Sheriff Spahr and Deputy Joe Anderson. Officer Marshall called the Sheriff's office due to resistance. When the officers went to the home she drew a long butcher knife but laid it down when she saw the officers were armed. She was taken before Judge Aultman, who assessed a $50 fine and ten days in the county jail.

H. TURNBULL HEADS VET COMMITTEE

Hugh Turnbull, World War I veteran, and president of the Greene County Board of Commissioners, was elected president of a county coordinating committee on services to servicemen and veterans at an organization meeting at the Court House last Thursday evening.

A committee composed of Ralph Mitman, Xenia, R. S. county commander of the American Legion post; J. M. Glasco, Xenia, service officer of John Roan Post, American Legion, and A. V. Perrill, City Auditor, was named as a planning group to determine what sub-committees on services are necessary in this community. The chairman of each of these sub-committees will make up the executive committee of the organization. The various services include employment planning, servicing, benefits and information, claims, physical and mental health, financial assistance, personal, social and community adjustment and legal aid.

L. N. Shepherd, county clerk of courts and World I veteran, addressed the group and explained how, a similar coordinating committee is functioning in Warren, O.

The new machine will require only two and a half minutes to make a photostatic copy of any legal document.

Deferment For Union Leaders; Not Farmers

Farmers are much concerned about the continued drafting of needed farm boys right as a time when there is so much spring work at hand. When the President of the United States writes a blanket order for deferment of labor union organizers as necessary in the war effort and that scores of motion picture and radio artists are deferred, as necessary at home, we see little reason why a farmer should be concerned about feeding the world. It was only a few days ago you were ordered to do less eating at home that others could eat more.

The "tighten your belt" statement was not off the air until England had two no off officials in the air on the way here to protest a cut in lend-lease on meats.

While farm boys are drafted Judge Mel Underwood Dem., U. S. District Court, protest the release of draft evaders sent to prison or conscientious objectors being released to return home in some instances six weeks after being sent over. Judge Underwood has complained to the Department of Justice but gets no action. He is only barking up the wrong tree. The Department of Justice is under the wing of the Communists, Hillman, Browder etc.

Things must be bad when a Democratic judge, a former congressman, complains of what is taking place in his own political party. He may get a note from 1600 Pennsylvania ave. requesting his resigning as being unpatriotic and thwarting the war effort.

Canning Sugar To Be Ready, April 15

Canning sugar applications will be available after April 15, according to the OPA.

The total amount will not be more than 20 pounds a person and no more than 160 pounds for any one family.

FRIDAY MARCH 30, 1945.

SLAUGHTER OF THE 18-YEAR OLDS

Congress has at times discussed the death of eighteen-year-old boys thrown into the front ranks without the necessary military training. After a lot of talk, nothing of course has been done for the Democratic-New Dealers in Congress must take orders from the "blood and guts" head quarters.

One cannot imagine what the horror of war might be at best, only those who engage in it, probably not by choice at that. But when inexperienced 18-year-old boys are thrown into the front ranks as so much gun-fodder, not even knowing how to defend themselves, it must be terrifying, especially when officers, hardened to seeing their elders shot down in cold blood, must turn their faces at the sight of the innocent dying like rats at a slaughter. Imagine if you can the sight of 19 boys of the 18-age group, none that had ever had the legal right to vote; most of whom never experienced even a shave; some that had never slept away from home until the first night in a camp many that had no idea of what terror of war was at night, let alone daytime, thrown into the maelstrom of hell-fire and with in the first five minutes, eleven of the 19 were dead and five more lying on the battlefield in terrible agony from gunfire injury.

We unfold this story as we approach the Easter dawn when heads are bowed in reverence of rebirth of the Master, the first and only apostle of peace. There should be a moment of silent prayer on the lips of every man and woman this GOOD FRIDAY for the safety and security of these boys and girls that they may be returned safely to their homes after victory and not be compelled to become night watchmen in some distant land.

Thank God, the broken promise that these youngsters would have a year's training before being sent abroad, falls not on the Republican minority of Congress, but the Democratic New Dealers that are only the "Charley McCarty's" for the "blood and guts" division directing the war.

WHEN THE GUILD REACHES IN THE PURSE

Not so long ago we were in a group of newspapermen that discussed the position of newspapers and the CIO Newspaper Guild. Not all city newspapers have to contend with the organization but many do. It is a problem each newspaper has to solve and the political complexion of the paper makes no difference to the Guild. It is the proprietor's purse strings the organization would loosen.

There are daily newspapers that have no right to contest any claim the Guild forces on the editorial or the business departments of the paper. Most of such papers have sat idly by watching some fellow publisher defend himself the way he can in such a contest, particularly now when the Guild has the government backing it on ninety-nine out of any 100 points that can be raised.

Against there are daily papers that have editorial departments that dictate the policy of the paper, whether it suits the publisher, or owner, or not. We have in mind one Democratic paper that is owned by a prominent Democrat that has nothing but curses for much of the present New Deal. Only ears of his close business associates hear the ranting. Yet, the editorial page is written by one of Communist leanings and always backs the New Deal in everything, and the publisher has to like it and be satisfied.

This same paper, like many others in the nation, must face new Guild contracts, which means less working hours and more money, just like John L. Lewis stands for his coal miners. With this newspaper we have in mind we hear the Guild is asking for increases in salaries that will even exceed some that head departments, and such cannot be members of the union. These heads must hold down on the cost of operating their departments or they will lose their jobs.

Newspapers that have editorial pages that would do credit to Joseph Stalin's official paper, the Pravda, has no right to complain or object to any demand made by the Guild. It has had no sympathy for the industrial concern in the same position. The Guild has a right to demand that the paper practice what it preaches.

There is a lesson to the farmer in this situation and it must be said he has sat back uninterested in seeing the nation's business turned over, body and soul, to be operated by those who do not have a dollar invested in it. You, whether you know it or not, are only a stone's throw from the seat now occupied by the above mentioned newspaper. You will face the same issue in a very few months after the close of the war—if the Roosevelt New Dealers continue to hold the throne in Washington.

XENIA AVE.

Judging from press reports Sen. Harold H. Burton, Cleveland, is out to create dissension in Republican ranks in this state, regardless of the fact that he must come for re-election next year, if he desires another term. The Senator thinks that Chairman Ed Schorr might be responsible for defeat of some places on the state ticket, at least that is the inference in his press statement, if correctly quoted.

We have a suspicion the Senator has something else up his sleeve rather than Mr. Schorr. Mr. Schorr is the chairman of the Republican State Executive committee, chosen by members of the state central committee who are chosen by election by Republican electors from the different congressional districts. We hold no brief for Mr. Schorr as chairman, nor do we have cause to fuss with him or over him. We do not know that he has ever tried to dictate a single appointment in this county nor has he been against the county at election time. We do know that he cooperated with the county committee in the last election when the county gave all Republican candidates, in the face of the strongest opposition, made possible by New Deal spending and hoarding of imported voters from other states that had no legal right to vote while holding a temporary residence in the county.

We expect the "fly in the ointment" with the Senator is the current report that thousands of Republicans in the state would much prefer to vote for John W. Bricker as the next Republican nominee for senator than for the Senator himself. We have no quarrel with the Senator from a party standpoint, while we do and have had divergent views on many national issues that have been espoused by the Senator. That is our right and he has the same right for his views. We have no means of knowing the wishes of "Gov." Bricker. He has made no open statement on political lines that we know of. We know that there has been during all the three terms Bricker was governor, co-operation from Mr. Schorr, yet who is there than can openly state that Mr. Schorr "bossed" the former Governor? We expect they have disagreed at times just as Mr. Burton has disagreed with Mr. Schorr.

Here is how we disagree with Senator Burton when he points out the election results in the state. As for the National ticket there was far too much "men" stuff to the New Deal by even Gov. Dewey as the Republican nominee. Then the Senator and his associate Sen. Joe Ball and others who followed a theory that did not appeal to the public and landed at the "dead-end" of the campaign alley. To make matters worse Sen. Ball, who was supposedly elected as a Republican from his state turned a political traitor and joined with the Roosevelt communists, Hillman, Williams, and the CIO Russianists. At no time have we ever heard that Senator Burton, has yet publicly disowned his traitor associate for the Republican cause. This one incident alone may prove to be embarrassing to the Senator when he seeks another term. Again as we canvass the Senator's home county returns, Cuyahoga, we are inclined to believe the Republicans in great number did not consider his party loyalty strong enough to give the ticket even one office in the county and so far as we know but one candidate on the state or national ticket a majority and that was Congressman-at-Large Geo. Bander, who also drew support from the counties that have not swallowed the New Deal doctrine.

At a recent meeting of the Republican State committee, a committee was named to make a study and a canvass of the state vote. It is interesting to review following the Burton outburst over the "near defeat" of the state ticket last November. We find the Republicans captured 755 state, district and county offices, almost twice the number elected by the Democrats, which had 386 offices. The Republicans won a U. S. Senator, Congressman-at-large; 16 District Congressmen; Secretary of State, Treasurer of State; Attorney General; 20 State Senators against 13 for the Democrats, and a large part of these came from Cuyahoga and nearby senatorial districts under CIO influence. As for State Representatives the Republicans elected 90 against 39 for the Democrats. Other county and district offices went Republican more than two to one in all cases. So we fail to see just how much of a "load" Mr. Schorr was to the party at the last election. The electors were not so much interested in who was state chairman of either political party last November. We suppose there are Democrats that do and more than are ready to cast stones at Al Hartsman, Dayton, chairman of the Democratic party. Judging from the sideline reports the Dayton Democrats are now throwing stones towards the Governor's office because he is not opening the patronage doors to all who would seek admittance.

From this distance it appears that Senator Burton had better devote a bit more time towards strengthening his party in his own county before he widens his scope of activity to include the state. He can also spend much of his time in Washington trying to do his part in keeping the nation the kind of a republic that existed at the time the millions of boys and girls of the nation entered the war. We are nearer Communism today, forced on the people under the guise of a war-time necessity.

With little or no pork on sale in the Dayton and Springfield markets on Saturday, and poultry at a premium and none on sale in Columbus, it is surprising how New Deal families relish the dish they set before themselves last November. Of course New Dealer has no right to complain even if he cannot get either beef or pork. He can eat his red points and listen to the radio speeches how the imaginary black-market is withholding meat from the market places.

A few days ago the New Deal announced that some $400,000 had been turned over to the OPA to run down the blackmarket and particularly put the heat on the country packers, the fellows that slaughter and do not have federal inspection. It is proposed to limit the slaughter of meat in the rural slaughter houses and to control the sale of livestock by shipments to sections of the country as the New Deal directs.

There will be no meat on the city markets unless OPA ceiling prices are changed so packers can make a reasonable profit. If the public purchases as much meat at the black-market as the OPA claims, and also pay far above ceiling prices, then the best way to kill the illegal market is to boost the price of livestock, processed meat. The consumer is not kicking about the price of meat but he does kick about the shortage of meat. The city worker wants meat and is willing to pay for it. If he is so foolish as to continue to follow the CIO Hillman-Roosevelt food plan, let one and all do without meat but do not continue to complain. They are getting just what they voted for—free lend-lease meat to England. Over in Canada that nation gets paid for all the meat sent to England. Canada does not ration meat to its citizens and yet has plenty for its military forces.

An attorney in Madison county informs the writer that he appeared a few weeks ago before the draft board in that county to seek deferment for two or three boys needed on farms where the father was dead or there was no one to drive tractors. After presenting the case a Democratic member of the draft board made it plain the nation needed more men in uniform and that the nation had a full two year's supply of food both for civilians and the military and forthright reason Washington wanted even farm boys for the army and must have them. That same draft board member sings a different tune today. He has discovered you cannot even believe even what the New Dealers have to say in Washington.

Last fall thousands of brood sows were sent to market from all parts of the country. It was pointed out then there would be a big scarcity of pork this spring and summer. The New Deal was still feeding the public the chaff about so many more millions of hogs in the nation than at anytime in the history of the country. A Madison county farm woman who has just completed a census of farm stock in her township. She reports there are 300 less brood sows in her township this spring than a year ago. The same can be said for each township in Greene county. In discussing the situation with a Clinton county land owner he says his county has the lowest number of brood sows today in ten years. Two of the largest hog breeders and feeders in eastern Green county have reduced their herds, one dropping from 350 brood sows to about 20 this spring. When the New Deal broke its pledge to the farmers by changing the floor price and then put a limit on poundage, the hog feeder to protect himself had to reduce his brood sow list. City folks can get pork when they are willing to facts, not idle dreams out of Washington by chronic liars.

District Auditions

This year, the first time in three years, the state of Ohio is resuming their District Contests. Instead of the idea being a contest it has proven to be more satisfactory to call the auditions "Auditions", thereby eliminating the usual hard feelings among the different schools.

Cedarville is entering four vocal numbers. A sextette composed of Clara Galloway, Dorothy Waddle, Betty Gruning, Vivian Ramsey, Norma Stormont, and Kathleen Evans. A double quartette of boys composed of Leon Buffenbarger, Willard Hall, Dempy Frey, Kenneth Huffman, John Frey, Harold Swaney, Kenneth Dailcy and Roger Ush.

Two soprano solos will also be sung by Vivian Ramsey and Phyllis Bryant. The Auditions will be held at Wittenberg on April 20 and any one may attend.

SAVING MORE PAPER IS MOST IMPORTANT

COLUMBUS (Special)—America's war effort stands in immediate danger of being impeded by a shortage of waste paper, according to the Ohio State Salvage Committee.

Through executives of the State Salvage organizations, Ohio has issued a challenge to every other state in the nation to a waste paper salvage contest. In an all-out effort to solve the waste paper problem, the challenge is issued to the state of Ohio. The Ohio State Council of Defense, James G. Lewis, WPB Executive Secretary of Ohio, General Salvage Branch, Harold W. Nichols, Chairman, Ohio State Salvage Committee, Ethel G. Newcomb, Vice-Chairman, Robert O. Webb, Secretary, and James J. McCallister, Administrator of the Ohio State Salvage Committee.

So drastically urgent is the situation that the Ohio State Council of Defense, through its State Salvage Committee, has put into motion every means at its disposal to increase at once the present average monthly collections of 500,000 to a minimum of 667,000 tons a month.

"Every man, woman and child in America must join in this important campaign," says Stone, giving these reasons:

Millions of paperboard containers are being sent overseas to our fighting forces each week. Army quartermasters need a million paper containers a day to keep the Army supplied with milk. To pack canned tomatoes for the Army another thousand tons are needed. All this requires 5000 tons of waste paper. The ever-increasing conversion of waste paper into actual weapons of war has become a terrific drain on the paper mills.

Stone points out that such items as bomb bands, airplane wing tips, shell casing protectors, signal rockets, parachute flares, shell containers, practice bombs, paper belts and camouflage paper are using tons and tons of paper.

"The situation is truly critical—every American must help now," says Stone.

may be some bottlenecks in deliveries, so it will be wise to order seed, fertilizers and insecticides early. Weather was good last year in most areas where vegetable seeds are grown for commercial use, and there were bumper crops. The fertilizer situation is not quite so good as last year. SULFA FOR ANIMAL AILMENTS-

Sulfa drugs, which have proven such an aid in human medicine are also giving good results in treating some animal diseases. The Pennsylvania State College has found that Sulfathiazole and Sulfaguanidine have shown very good results when used for swine enteritis, calf scours and coccidiosis. They caution however, that each of the sulfa drugs has definite limitations and that they should be used only under veterinary guidance.

EGG CASE SCARCITY-

Egg cases are scarce and orders should be placed early enough to permit manufacturers to make the cases and distribute them. Wooden cases are hard to get since they are being used to ship eggs overseas. The government announcement of the 1945 egg price support program specifies that eggs bought shall be delivered in new wooden or fiber cases. Those who expect to take advantage of the price support should be prepared to pack eggs in the new cases.

THE AUTHOR AND PERFECTER OF OUR FAITH

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 27:32-33.
GOLDEN TEXT—Let us run with patience the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus the author and perfecter of our faith.—Hebrews 12:1, 2.

Christianity is a resurrection faith! How good it is to recall that, in this troubled year of 1945, even as we share once more the spiritual inspiration of Easter Sunday.

Today we recall that the loving hands of His friends and followers have given themselves in what they thought was to be their final act of devotion to their Lord. His body had been tenderly laid in Joseph's tomb and the great stone rolled in place at its door.

But even as some were kind and loving, there were others who were so relentless in their hatred that they pursued Christ even beyond the grave.

I. The Hatred of Christ's Enemies (27:32-33).

We sometimes wonder at the bitterness of the enemies of Christianity in our day. Had we given more earnest heed to the Bible story we should have known that it was so from the very beginning.

The wicked men who brought about the crucifixion of Jesus were not content to let Him rest in His grave. They had lusted after His life and they had taken that, but even as He lay silent in the tomb, the priests and the Pharisees came to Pilate and called Him "that deceiver" (v. 63) and demanded a special guard.

They feared that His disciples would perpetrate a fraud, and after stealing the body declare that He was risen. Wicked and deceitful hearts can imagine all sorts of treachery on the part of others.

The hatred of unbelievers toward Christ and toward His followers is not content to let Him rest in His grave. They had lusted after His life and they had taken that, but even as He lay silent in the tomb, the priests and the Pharisees came to Pilate and called Him "that deceiver" (v. 63) and demanded a special guard.

II. The Victory of Christ (28:1-6).

Victory and praise should be the keynote of Christianity. Why should we be doubtful and sad? Our Lord has come back victorious from the grave! We may be glad and sing even in the midst of earth's sorrows and distresses. Let praise be the "employment" of our lips constantly as we worship Him and work for Him.

The picture that greeted the surprised eyes of the two women as they came to the grave, as it began to dawn on the first day of the week, was one resplendent with the glory and majesty of God. The earthquake had shaken the earth, the angel of the Lord broke through the supposedly unbreakable seal of Rome and rolled back the stone which was to have permanently closed the door to the tomb.

This was done, not to release Christ—for He had already gone, no grave could hold Him—but that men might see the empty grave and know that He was risen. Other religions keep the graves of their founders. Christianity points to an empty tomb.

To the foes of Christ represented by the keepers, the coming of the angel and the revelation of the power of God brought absolute discomfiture. That is still true. Men will argue with theology, church methods, even Christian profession, but when they see the power of God revealed, they can only be "as dead men."

III. The Joy of Christ's Disciples (28:7-9).

The followers of Christ had their share of fear and unbelief, but it was quickly overcome by joy and assurance as they knew that their Lord was risen.

The note of great joy is highly appropriate on Easter Sunday, but just as proper on every Sunday—yes, every day of the Christian's life. He is risen from the dead! That settles all questions about His deity, His power, His salvation. It meets the problems of our lives with an untiring word of confidence and joy.

Be sure to note that such good news must be kept to ourselves. We should emulate the zeal of the disciples, who "departed quickly" to make it known to their families and friends. The story of the victorious Saviour is still unknown to many thousands—possibly we should say millions. Let someone depart quickly to tell them of Jesus. And don't forget to ask yourself, "Should that someone be me?"

Jesus met them on the way with a greeting of peace. He loves to fellowship with His people as they go on His errands. You will find Him there awaiting your coming.

Washington Letter

In his liberal or radical tendencies. In his earlier years he had been a social worker and, it was charged in debate, had never had any business training or experience which would fit him to administer the REA, which is in reality a gigantic public utility organization taking in and distributing several hundreds of millions of dollars annually. The fight over the Williams confirmation was a bitter one, with a coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats opposing the President's appointment.

Mayor Fiorella LaGuardia, New Deal Mayor of New York, is playing the leading role in the latest presentation of the old drama—"Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight." The hot spots and night clubs of New York were bitterly opposed to the midnight closing hour, or curfew, ordered by the Director of War Mobilization, Justice James F. Byrnes, who is often referred to as the "Assistant President." Mayor LaGuardia endeavored to enforce the Byrnes order for about two weeks and then suddenly issued instructions all places of entertainment to remain open until one A. M., and drinking places, without entertainment, until four A. M. Both Justice Byrnes and President Roosevelt have admitted the Federal government is without legal authority to enforce the curfew order. Many Members of Congress have intimated their willingness to vote for a law making the order legal and mandatory, but Administration forces do not seem to be very enthusiastic for such a proposal. Could it be that Fiorella and Franklin have a little understanding of their own.

Let's Get Down to Bed Rock

More than 75,000 homes in Ohio are waiting for telephone service

WHY IS THIS? For more than three years all telephone manufacturing plants and man power have been devoted 100 per cent to making field communications equipment and electrical weapons for the army and navy and nothing for civilian use. All reserve telephone equipment has been exhausted and everything stretched to the utmost.

IS ANY RELIEF IN SIGHT? Frankly, no. There is no indication that the military authorities are going to cut down on their demands, so it is going to be some time after Germany and Japan are defeated.

HOW FAST WILL YOU MOVE? When military need for communications equipment ends, it will take some time to reconvert the telephone manufacturing plants and start the switchboards, cables, wires, instruments and scores of other items flowing. After that, much more time will be required to install this equipment and fit it into the existing system before it can be used to connect telephones already in use.

WE PROMISE REAL SPEED when the materials and trained man power are available. Telephone people are looking forward as anxiously as you to the days when they can say "yes" to every request for telephone service.
